Considered the godfather of Italy's post-war Renaissance, Gio Ponti (1891-1979) helped spread the vision of la dolce vita around the world with his masterful work in design, architecture, art and publishing. When his sublime 1958 Alitalia offices on Fifth Avenue closed its doors in the mid-nineties, the contents went on auction. Our collection from that auction includes many panels of the cast glass panels that were created specifically for that space.
