

Antique Operating Lamp

ca 1960
steel, brass, cast iron American

This antique surgical operating room lamp has been polished and restored by the artisans at our Franklin Street workshop to its original condition. The lamp features a cast iron base, polished steel fixtures, and polished brass details. The lamp head is easily directed with a handle control on the end of a counter-balanced boom arm. In the center of the reflector, a plaque reveals the make and model number of this particular unit. The etching reads, "Underwriter's Laboratory Inc., Wilmot Castle Co., Explosion Proof Operating Light." This surgical operating room lamp is mobile and functional as it was designed to be.
