

Art Deco Railing Section

Ruhlmann/Brandt

ca 1925

original finish gold wash [doré] over brass

Paris, France

This decorative Art Nouveau railing section came from the world-renowned Bon Marche department store in the heart of Paris. The design epitomizes the period in which they were created. The very essence of Art Nouveau design lies in the concept that art was not confined to the fine arts, but that it could also be applied to functional objects such as furnishings. These rail sections truly exude a sense of unparalleled beauty created by the fusion of great design and supreme craftsmanship. Edgar Brandt was considered one of the most skilled ironworkers in modern history.

Literature: Les Grands Magasins

Author: Bernard Marrey

Publisher: Picard, 1979, pp 200

Dimensions may vary slightly from piece to piece

Approx. height of post: 32" h

Approx. width of section: 23" w

Angle of rise: 26° [11 1/4" off the ground]

11 pieces available

Item# UA0001-2 SV

$5,500 each

For more information call 212 431 4646

