ca 1920
enameled cast iron
American

The Gold Medal Glenwood Range was considered the crème de la crème in its day. It features two ovens, one wood on the left, the other gas on the right; it has four gas and two wood burners, and one gas broiler. All these features are skillfully built into one compact stove. The pale gray enamel stove also has a side attachment to hook up a water heater and is still in perfect working condition.
