The Commerce Twin Faced Clock by Urban Archaeology is a testament to "form follows function".

The inspiration for this double-sided clock was taken from an original timepiece that may have been employed in the hallways of a number of commercial facilities, circa 1940.

The minimal clock face has black bar hour markers instead of numerals, which means that it can be mounted on a wall, a ceiling or on top of a horizontal surface. The twin faces make the time visible both coming and going.
